Light Rangers: Mending the Maniac Madness

Brethren Entertainment / Digital Praise
$29.95 UPC: 181826000031

"Maniac Madness" may be an accurate description for parents trying to understand how to play the games found on this CD-ROM. Your kids, however, will have no problem experiencing hours of fun and learning with all the activities it provides. (Beware: The controls needed to play these games are on the keyboard, not the mouse.) Rendered in the popular Japanese-anime style, the characters will appeal to the 6-12 crowd as they identify with athletic AJ, animal-loving Angel, and brainy Amos. Included are five arcade-style games similar to old favorites such as Pac-Man and Space Invaders. The feature I like best is when you're running low on power, you can go to the Bible trivia section to "power up" by answering questions correctly—combining Bible knowledge with fun. Other extras include printable activities, wallpaper, and the ability for parents to modify or add their own questions to the trivia base. Customers will get their money's worth with this one.
